[3] Neel M'Eth & Gillecryst M'Eth

June 6-15, 1298: Instrument attesting that on Friday, 8th of the ides of June at Provins in the diocese of Sens, Masters John Lovel and John de Selveston special envoys of the K. of England, in the presence and by command of Philip K. of France, delivered their credentials under the Great seal of England, to Master Robert de Pontisera canon of Cliartres. [These recited at length, dated St Edmund, 10th May previous.] After a short deliberation, the K. of France, having graciously accorded audience, the said Master John Lovel, standing, after preliminary remarks on behalf of his master, proffered and read to the K. of France and his Council the following 'cedula': [which is in Norman French and recited at great length]. The K. agrees to the truce proposed by the K. of France for himself and Edward, his allies, and the condition as to exchange of prisoners. He refuses to include John de Balliol whom the French envoys call 'K. of Scots' or his people, in the truce, because before the first truce and ever since, land of Scotland was and is in his property and possession, and he is seised of the homages and fealties of the prelates, earl's, barons, knights, and other nobles, and the entire communities and inhabitants of said land; nor were they named, as the other allies of France were in the proposals for a truce. If Sir John de Balliol casually made an alliance with the K. of France, which is not admitted, he had no power to do so, as he was in homage to the K. of England. Therefore, as kings and princes should above all others keep faith, loyalty and truth, the K. begs that no aid be given to the Scots. And especially, as some Scottish knights and others his liegemen and of his household who before and after the time of truce were in his service with banners displayed, against the K. of France, and have since deserted him, he requests that no help or countenance be given them, under the threat that negotiations will be broken off. To shew the strength of his case four public instruments are here recited at length (in Latin):

1. The homage of John de Balliol K. of Scotland dated Newcastle 26th December, 1292.
2. The fealty of the same, dated at the castle of Norham, 20th November 1292.

3. Instrument containing the resignation by John de Balhol of his kingdom and renunciation by him and the clergy nobles, and communities of Scotland of their league with Philip.

4. Instrument under the seals of Robert archbishop of Canterbury Anthony bishop of Durham, Richard bishop of London, and Walter bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, attesting the deeds of homage and fealty to the K. by the aforesaid bishops, abbots, priors, earls, barons and others of the kingdom of Scotland [recited at length]. In addition the homage and fealty of the burgesses and community of St Andrews is given, St Andrews, 29th August 1296. Also the 'letters of certain inhabitants of Scotland' as follows:—'Gillenef McGilleherf, Neel McEth, Gillecryst McEth, Dungal Mc gilleneras, Duncan McGillaue~~nan~~, Adam McGilleconil, Gillespic McEnri, Cuthbert McEnri, Kalman McKelli, Michael his brother, Hoen McEl-he, Cuthbert his brother, Achmacath McGilmotha, Michael McGilmotha, the chief men (greinourr,) of the lineage of Clenafren, declare that having aided John de Balliol late K. of Scotland, in his war and "fole" "enprise" against the K. of England, who is about to send his army into Galloway to chastise them, they for themselves and their lineage confess their fault, come to his peace, and swear on the Saints to assist him against Balliol and all others; and have given hostages. Done at Wigeton, Monday next after St John Baptist's day 1296.' Which various instruments so read by Master John, and by him'an'l his fellow envoy delivered to the K. of France by the hands of Master Robert, the latter in his master's name declared that the K. of France would observe the truce in all points. The latter afterwards assigned Sunday eight days after the Sunday following, viz., 15th June, at Chateau Thierry (Castrum Terricum), for the English envoys' hearing his deliverance or response to their proposition; and they having requested restitution of their original letters, Master Robert informed them, these should be delivered on the day of conference. On said day, viz., 17th of the kalends of July, the English envoys arriving at Chateau Thierry as appointed, and finding the K. of France not there but at the monastery of Consiac in the diocese of Soissons, at three leagues' distance, followed him there; when in presence of his Council, he announced to them by Master Robert, that he would observe the truce in all points. But touching the question of the Scots, he would send his own envoys with his response. In reply to the English envoys' requests for restoration of their letters and delivery of prisoners, the K. replied that the former was granted, and as to the latter, he should reply by his own envoys. Done at Consiac before Sir Charles count of Aujou brother of the K of France [and others].

August 31, 1304: Inquisition [under writ dated Linlithgow 12th of same month, commanding inquiry as to the privileges claimed by Robert de Brus earl of Carrick in Annandale, and that the jury be composed of men of the counties of Roxburgh and Dumfries] made at Dumfries on Monday next after the Decollation of St John Baptist in the K[ing]'s 32nd year, before Mathew de Redeman and John de Luscy, by Richard le Mareschal, Mathew del Ecles, Dovenald fitz Cane, Fergus le Mareschal, Roland le Mareschal, Henry de Mondevyl, Dovenald Cambel, Walter de Twynham, knights; Michael Macgethe, Patrick Magylboythyn, Gilbert Macmonhath, Cutbert M'Cane, Walter Danande(?), Walter de Comestone, Thomas de Kyrkconevel, Thomas de Arbygelande, Hugh de Ur, Adam de Fauhope, Thomas Belle, Gy de Denhom, John de Hederstone, Richard del Fleckes, William del Fausyde, Peter de Hessewel, and John Aliores(?) jurors; who find that the Earl of Carrick has this liberty, viz., that no sherilf of Dumfries or other servant of the K[ing] or his ancestors may enter the bounds of Annaudale to make attachments, summonses, or distrains, nor have they done so for time beyond memory; but that the K[ing] may choose a coroner from one of the Earl's homagers in Annandale, and issue writs to him direct, who shall represent and answer to the K[ing] and his justices of Lothian at Dumfries; that the earl has these liberties by the 'title of antiquity,' viz., from the time of William K[ing] of Scotland and all his successors uninterruptedly to this day.
